FYI.

We will discuss the possibility of using the buffalo from the old house with him on Wednesday and go from there.

Rich,

I just returned from that address, the Cabot water buffalo system for the houses that he currently lives in is not there. However he does have another water buffalo system still hooked up at the old house that he used to live in. At the local Tractor Supply, a 550 gallon tank is $450.00 plus tax. You might also have a provide a jet pump which is about $350.00 in price plus the cost of the installation which is probably a few hundred.
